Ambassador Choate Cables That the Foreign Office Refuses to Grant Further Clemency-Arrival of Baroness Causes Much Surprise-Broken

in Health.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Ambassador Choate has cabled the State Department that the Brilish Foreign Office has refused to grant any further clemency to Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who recently made application through the State Department at Washington for a complete pardon, it appears that Mrs. Maybrick was not granted a complete pardon, but was released from imprisonment upon certain conditions and is still technically under sentence. Her testimony is regarded as very necessary in the prosecution of a civil action of her mother, the Baroness Von Roques to recover a sum of money on account of a land transaction, which is now pending, and it was to make her eligible as a witness that an application was made to the British government through the State Departmen to grant a full pardon.

The Baroness Von Roques has arrived here from New York, where the landed Saturday from Havre. Mrs. Maybrick did not accompany her, being detained in New York by a fractured knee cap, but is expected here Wednesday when she and the Baroness will go to Richmond to give testimony in the suit.

The hearing of evidence for the plaintiff was transferred from this city to Richmond because of questions raised

The nearing of evidence for the paintiff was transferred from this city to Richmond because of questions raised by her counsel as to the admissibility of certain letters, and which he claimed imposed upon her an unnecessary expenditure of money.

Arrival of Baroness.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, May 8.—The Baroness
Caroline Von Roques, mother of Mrs.
Florence Maybrick, arrived on the stemsship La Touraine on Saturday night, and left yesterday morning for Washington to give her testimony in her suit against D W. Armstrong, and others to recover possession of the lands which she says were taken from her by trickery.

The appearance of the Baroness in this country will come as a great surprise to the Armstrong forces, as it was believed she was too ill to make the long journey from Rouen, France, her home. It was announced recently that her attorneys would go to France to take her deposition, and the fact that the plan had been changed was carefully kept secret. She sailed under the name of "Madame De Mormont," and no one on the steamer knew her identity.

Broken in Health.

Broken in Health,

Broken in Health.

The Baroness is broken in health. She looks much older than when she came to this country ten years ago to see about her property interests. Only twice during the seven days' voyage from Havre did she leave her cabin.

Mrs. Maybrick was at the pier to greet her mother. It was the first time they had met since Mrs. Maybrick left France after being released from prison. The women flew into each other's arms and tears streamed down their faces.

"Bless you, my daughter," sobbed the Baroness; "you look like another woman. It is good to see the roses in your checks once more."

pany's Planos and Organs.

uost. Her lawyers claimed that the attorneys for the other side were trying to run the costs up to such an enormous figure that the Baroness and her daughter would be compelled to drop their suits, and contended that this would defeat the ends of justice. The costs already amount to several thousand dollars. The permission to prosecute without costs was given by the Chancery Court of Richmond, in which the case is being heard.

The land being fought for lies in three States—Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia. The Baroness claims that Armstrong induced Mrs. Maybrick and herself to sign papers transferring the property to him when they were both in a state of collapse before the trial of Mrs. Maybrick. The Baroness hopes to recover about $$5,000.

GARFIELD BEGINS OIL INVESTIGATION IN TEXAS

BEAUMONT, TEX., May 8.-James R, Garfield, commissioner of the Bureau of Corporations of the Department of Commerce and Labor, arrived in this city to-day to investigate conditions in the oil fields here. His work to-day was preliminary, paving the way for his assistants who will conclude the investigations. Mr. Garfield left to-night for Washington having been absent eight Washington, having been absent eight

"DARKEST RUSSIA"

C. Cunningham, opened at the Bljou last night for a stay of a week. True, the play is melodramatic, but it is of a different variety to that which has been served for the last month or six weeks—not one of those impossible af-fairs with gun-play, stillettos, sandbags fairs with gun-play, stilettos, sandbags and poisons.

The story of the play tells of a Russian minister of police with considerable power, and a wife who is a schemer. There is a Jewish girl, whose father has been exiled to Siberia, as a suspect. An officer in the army is in love with the Jewish girl, while the daughter of the minister of police is in love with the officer who loves the Jewish girl. The wife and mother undertakes to thwart the marriage of the officer and the Jewish girl; as a matter of fact, the woman's daughter is betrothed to the officer.

Miss Acton, as the Jewish girl, was most acceptable in her portrayal of the role committed to her; Miss Estelle, as the Counteas Karischeff, did very well; Miss Elliston, as the Baroness von Rheinbers, was delightful, by her clever work and love-making; Fred A. Sullivan, as the minister of police, a weak and vindictive man in the hands of a revengeful woman; Roy Applegate, as conel of the guards; C. C. Bartling, as Count Nazimoff, and Harry Barker, as the independent and resourceful American, were all very good.

RUDOLPH HANGED.

Step, Saying Nothing.

(I) Associated Press.)

UNION, MO, May E.—Wm. Rudolph was hanged in the jall yard at 10:01 o'clock to-day. His neck was not broken, and he strangled thirteen minutes before being pronounced dead. His mother and stepfather bade him farewell in his cell, after which Rudolph announced that he was ready to go. Rudolph walked to the soxifold with a firm step. He said nothing after leaving his cell. About 20 persons witnessed the execution. Rudolph's crims was participation with George Collin, who was hanged last year, in the killing of detective Charies J. Schumasher, of St. Louis, at Rudolph home, near Stanton, on January 26th, 1903.

An Immense Offering of Seasonable and Fashion-Approved Silks.

A Characteristic Fourgurcan Sale at Prices of Quite Unheard of This Early in the Season.

Again we take the initiative in underpriced Silks, and, as usual, we desire your critical comparison of the new prices with the qualities offered.

Our Mr. Fourgurean attended last week the big H. B. Claflin sale of Wash and Cotton Goods. While there he went fishing for something better, and caught this lot of handsome Silks, the best and cheapest we have ever secured.

To the many remarkable values thus made possible we have added much of our regular stocks, at prices scaled down to the bargain level of the special numbers-making a grand total of many thousands of yards of highly desirable Silks at prices that make half a gift of them. It would be quite impossible to name all the patterns and textures, therefore the list that follows is merely suggestive: $1.00 qualities Pin Checked Taffetas and Louisines at . . . . . . . 69c 65c qualities Pin Checked and Shepherd Plaid, Louisines and Taf-

And This from the Wash Section

Is Another Paragraph of Little Prices.

The snappy values, peculiar to the Annex, were never more apparent than in to-day's offerings. A condition that serious shoppers, who know values and appreciate real worth, will be quickest to realize.

Take it for granted that the best in Wash Goods at whatever price is here-there would be no explanation for the constant crowding of this section if that were not true.

We mention the following as holding the place of honor in point of pronounced worth and immediate popularity:

Same Swiss, all sizes of dots, that you bought up so quickly a week or so ago, another chance, likely a short one Dotted Swiss, fine imported, full 31 inches wide, at ........ 350 Embroidered Figured Swiss white mercerized patterns, at ... 50c. White French Batiste, very fine and sheer, full 47 inches. We imported this directly, hence the price, instead of 40c, is. . . . . . 25c Mohair Lustres, a cotton imitation of the real thing, at. . . . . . 19c Figured Organdies, Frenchy patterns on fine cloth, at. . . . . 12%0 Silk Warped Organdies, beautiful floral patterns, at...... 29c

Judge Declares Secretary of Mc-Andrews & Forbes Company Guilty of Contempt.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, May 8.—Judge Lacombe, in the United States Circuit Court, today, announced that he will sign an order McAndrews and Forbes Company, five dollars for having refused to answer certain questions asked him in the incan Tobacco Company, and also an order committing Hale to the custody of the committing Hale to the custody of the Cunited States marshal until he purges himself of contempt. By slipulation between counsel for Hale and Henry W. Tart, special assistant United States attorney, who is conducting the investigation for the government, the orders will not be put into effect until counsel has prepared papers for a writ of habeas corpus, to be argued before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and Mr. Hale will not be placed formally in custody until Friday.

Among the questions which Hale refused to answer was one asking if any agreement or understanding or arrangement existed between the American Tobacco Company and the McAndrews and Forbes Company, in relation to the trade or business in licorice paste or mass, affecting the business in the several States of the United States. Mr. Hale had been asked before by the grand morrow. At least two bondsman are sald to be ready to give hall in any reasonable amount, and counsel for Miss Patterson say the surety will be provided without delay as soon as the district atterney expressed a willingness to accept it.

Lawyer Abraham Levy, of Miss Pattersons of counsel, received a letter which had been sent in the mail to Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Nan's mother, in Washington, D. C., in which Miss Patterson's lite was threatened. The letter says in part:

"I am sorry to cause you some pain, but you will not see Nan, although sho cheated justice of the law, she has more to deal with, and she will never go far away from the Tombs. I am the victim of another such woman as your daughter, and not only has my money one, but I am slowly dyins. Wednesday night, if the jury had acquitited Nan I would have ghot her as she left the Tombs. If the was convicted I could have committed suicide, as I have wished to do for the last tex months. But my rane will be famous yet as a lover of justice. The American people shall know that one man had the courage to fivenge Tourn's murder. I write this so that you may know that I am in no way comected with Young's friends.

Lawyer Levy said if the letter had not been written by a crank he would regard it as important. He added that it avidently was written by a man who knew has been known throughout the trial as "J. Randolph Patterson," but whose name is John Rartlett Patterson.

Remarkable Escape of Sixtyfour People on Board

VINDYARD HAVEN, MASS., May 8.-With the arrival here to-day of the tug Joy Line steamer Aransas, bound Poston to New York, was struck by the contl-laden barge Glendower, in tow of the tug Patience, from Boston for Philadelphia, and sunk loss than fifteen minutes later, but out of thirty-seven passengers and a crew of twenty-nine on the steamer, most of whom were asleep at the time of the collision, only one life was lost. Miss Mamie Kelley, twenty-seven years of age, residence unknown, was missing when the roll of passengers was called. The disaster was due to the fog. The ongine room and fire room of the Aransas were quickly flooded, and some of the Internets barrly escaped being caught by the torrents of water. It was seen at once that the stearder was sinking, and orders to lower the boats were given. Most of the passengers and crew were in their berths at the time of the collision, but all were awakened by the crash. They dressed hastly and rushed upon deck. While some of the passengers were being transferred to the steamer's louts, the Patience came alongside the rapidly sinking Aransas and took off those who had not already taken to the boats. Those who had taken to the boats were then transferred to the tug or to the barges in tow, Among the passengers were five women and one chiat, All were saved with the exception of Miss Kelley Mato Crocker remembers distinctly that he assisted Miss Kelley to the ladder leading to the lighboats, but she was not seen afterwards.
